Resolution ICC-ASP/6/Res.2

Adopted at the 7th plenary meeting, on 14 December 2007, by consensus

ICC-ASP/6/Res.2
Strengthening the International Criminal Court and the Assembly of States Parties

The Assembly of States Parties,

Mindful that each individual State has the responsibility to protect its population from genocide, war crimes, and crimes against humanity, that the conscience of humanity continues to be deeply shocked by unimaginable atrocities in various parts of the world, and that the need to prevent the most serious crimes of concern to the international community, and to put an end to the impunity of the perpetrators of such crimes, is now widely acknowledged;

Convinced that the International Criminal Court is an essential means of promoting respect for international humanitarian law and human rights, thus contributing to freedom, security, justice and the rule of law as well as to the prevention of armed conflicts, the preservation of peace and the strengthening of international security and the advancement of post-conflict peacebuilding and reconciliation with a view to achieving sustainable peace, in accordance with the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations;

Convinced also that there can be no lasting peace without justice and that peace and justice are thus complementary requirements;

Convinced further that justice and the fight against impunity are, and must remain, indivisible and that in this regard universal adherence to the Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court is essential;

Welcoming the Court's central role as the only permanent international criminal court within an evolving system of international criminal justice;

Taking note with appreciation of United Nations General Assembly resolution 62/12 of 26 November 2007, concerning the International Criminal Court, and previous relevant United Nations General Assembly resolutions;

Stressing the importance of effective and comprehensive cooperation and assistance by States, international and regional organizations so that the Court can properly fulfil its mandate;

Appreciating the invaluable assistance that has been provided by civil society to the Court;

Conscious of the importance of equitable geographical representation and gender balance in the organs of the Court;

Mindful of the need to encourage the full participation of States Parties, Observers and States not having observer status in the sessions of the Assembly of States Parties and to ensure the broadest visibility of the Court and the Assembly;

Conscious of the risks faced by personnel of the Court in the field,
Desirous of assisting the Court and its organs, notably through management oversight and other appropriate action, in performing the duties assigned to them,

Recommendations on cooperation

Recommendation 1

All States Parties should secure enactment of implementing legislation, legislation relevant to the investigation and prosecution of crimes under the Statute and ratify the Agreement on Privileges and Immunities of the Court.1

Recommendation 2

The Assembly of States Parties should consider establishing a mechanism for sharing information between States Parties on drafting and executing implementing legislation. Such a function could be undertaken or supported by the Secretariat. Alternatively, the Court could designate a focal point for implementing legislation and communicate the details of this person to States Parties, subject to statutory requirements.

Recommendation 3

All States Parties should, where appropriate, review their implementing legislation, with a view to improving its functioning. The national focal point could be tasked with this, in cooperation with relevant authorities.

Recommendation 4

States Parties and/or the Assembly, through its subsidiary bodies, could organise regional or global workshops and seminars for national experts and focal points involved in drafting and executing implementing legislation, possibly with the assistance of the Secretariat of the Assembly.

Recommendation 5

States Parties should further consider ways in which support can be given to States who are willing but lack the capacity to enter into witness relocation agreements and sentences enforcement agreements, inter alia through good governance, rule of law and judicial reform programmes, or other forms of cooperation.

Recommendation 6

The Assembly of States Parties should consider tasking the Secretariat with facilitating contact between States Parties interested in providing support and States Parties who would like to receive such support.

Recommendation 7

States Parties may consider designating a national focal point tasked with the coordination and mainstreaming of Court-issues within and across government institutions.

Recommendation 8

States Parties may further consider, based on the activities of the focal point, to establish a more permanent coordinating mechanism either through the focal point or through a working group or task force. Such a mechanism could deal with all Court-related issues.

Recommendation 9

States Parties could also designate a contact point at relevant Embassies as an interface for the Court with the national focal point.

Recommendation 10

The Court should continue high-level and working visits to States Parties to contribute to mainstreaming and raising awareness of the International Criminal Court within national administrations of the Court.

Recommendation 11

States Parties should whenever possible express support for the Court and promote its general and situation-specific activities in their bilateral contacts.

Recommendation 12

States Parties should, where possible, in the context of preliminary examinations, provide the Court with relevant background information as requested.

Recommendation 13

The Court should, at the earliest possible stage after opening an investigation, provide States Parties with an overview of what types of information would be useful in that specific case, in a way consistent with statutory and other requirements.

Recommendation 14

States Parties should where relevant – possibly through focal and contact points – engage in an active dialogue with the Court and assess on a case-by-case basis whether they may have background information of value to the Court.

Recommendation 15

States Parties should, at the earliest possible stage in an investigation identify relevant parts of their national administrative and judicial systems, and ensure that appropriate and agreed procedures are in place to process judicial requests in a timely manner. Where appropriate, this could be done by creating a procedural manual.

Recommendation 16

States Parties should, where relevant, facilitate access to witnesses for Court officials, inter alia by issuing ‘emergency’ visas if required.
Recommendation 17

All States Parties should contribute where appropriate to generating political support and momentum for the timely arrest and surrender of wanted persons both in their bilateral contacts and activities in regional and international organisations.

Recommendation 18

States Parties should consider establishing guidelines or agreements and memoranda of understanding with regard to the provision of logistical support and make the Court aware of the terms and conditions applicable to such assistance.

Recommendation 19

The Court should to the extent possible provide a general checklist of steps to be taken with regard to transfers, as well as a generic model transfer agreement.

Recommendation 20

All States Parties should consider whether it would be possible, on request, to provide a State on whose territory suspects are located with technical assistance and support such as information-sharing and specialised training of law enforcement personnel.

Recommendation 21

States Parties and the Assembly of States Parties should consider ways in which experiences can be shared on issues relating to arrest and transfer, possibly through a general focal point for cooperation appointed by the Assembly of States Parties.

Recommendation 22

States Parties should consider tasking their national focal point/national authorities with ensuring that witness protection issues are dealt with adequately.

Recommendation 23

The Court and the States Parties focal points/national authorities should engage in a dialogue to explore the possibilities for obtaining assistance for witness protection, including practical assistance in the field such as support for extraction.

Recommendation 24

The Assembly of States Parties may wish to further monitor developments regarding witness protection and issues related to victims and defence teams, as an increasingly important part of the cooperation dossier.

Recommendation 25

All States Parties should communicate to the Court the contact details for the relevant contact person at their Embassies and diplomatic missions in The Hague, Brussels and/or New York.
Recommendation 26

States Parties should examine ways in which national procedures and the interface with the Court could be improved with regard to the exchange of confidential information.

Recommendation 27

In requests for operational assistance the Court should be mindful of possible burden-sharing.

Recommendation 28

All States Parties should, to the extent possible, accommodate requests from the defence teams for operational support – the Court should facilitate this, inter alia, by exploring ways in which the defence teams can benefit from existing agreements between the Court and States Parties.

Recommendation 29

All States Parties should contribute to the extent possible to rosters of experts as well as provide expert assistance on favourable financial terms.

Recommendation 30

All States Parties should re-examine possibilities for allowing government officials to take up short-term positions at the Court as well consider ways in which leave-of-absence can be granted to officials enabling them to take up longer-term positions.

Recommendation 31

The Assembly of States Parties and its appropriate subsidiary bodies should – together with the Court - further examine ways in which cooperation could be established between the Court and the Justice Rapid Response Mechanism, in accordance with the Rome Statute.

Recommendation 32

To ensure mutually sufficient knowledge of and understanding for the mandates and activities of the two organizations, regular contacts between Court officials and United Nations staff should be ensured. Apart from contacts by email and phone, direct contacts, for example in the form of a yearly meeting or workshop, or in the margins of visits, could be envisaged.

Recommendation 33

The practice of regular high-level visits as well as working visits to the United Nations should be continued.

Recommendation 34

In addition to the regular meetings with the Office of Legal Affairs, the Court should jointly with the United Nations assess periodically the status of cooperation, with a view to improve it if necessary and possible.
Recommendation 35

The Court should make better use of the existing possibilities for exchange of personnel with the United Nations.

Recommendation 36

To the extent possible and as far as statutory requirements allow, the Court should keep the relevant entities of the United Nations informed of progress in specific cases and situations.

Recommendation 37

Without prejudice to operational and statutory requirements, requests for cooperation should be consolidated whenever possible, and be as specific as possible.

Recommendation 38

The Court should continue and, if possible, extend its current practice of making use of specific knowledge within the United Nations system, such as the involvement of children in judicial processes.

Recommendation 39

The Court could in conformity with statutory requirements, also offer its capacity, knowledge and information to the United Nations system, so as to ensure a more mutually beneficial relationship.

Recommendation 40

The Court should continue its practice of sending a yearly report on the work of the Court to the United Nations, as well as the annual address of the President of the Court to the General Assembly.

Recommendation 41

The New York Liaison Office should continue to enable concrete cooperation by making sure that all necessary channels are open between the two institutions, including the Secretariat of the Assembly, by facilitating the exchange of information and by serving as an antenna for issues related to cooperation.

Recommendation 42

In contacts with the Secretary General, other high-level United Nations officials as well as relevant United Nations staff, the interests and mandate of the Court should be explained and actively supported.

Recommendation 43

States Parties should strive to ensure that all relevant staff members of permanent missions have adequate knowledge of the Court and the Rome Statute, including regional and military experts. For example, use could be made of a power point presentation distributed by the Group of Friends of the International Criminal Court.
Recommendation 44

States Parties should encourage the Group of Friends of the International Criminal Court to try to reach beyond the traditional audience of legal advisers in its activities, for example by organizing more specific activities aimed at a larger audience. Legal advisers should encourage their colleagues to participate in such activities.

Recommendation 45

Existing references to the Court should be maintained in General Assembly and other resolutions as much as possible, and when appropriate included in other resolutions.

Recommendation 46

The yearly International Criminal Court resolution should be continued and strengthened wherever possible.

Recommendation 47

States Parties should include the Court in statements they make in different relevant forums, for example during the general debate of the General Assembly, when appropriate.

Recommendation 48

States Parties should remind States of their duty to cooperate and request in their statements that States fulfil their obligations to cooperate, in particular when it concerns arrest and surrender.

Recommendation 49

States Parties should, when considering candidacies for membership in United Nations organs, where relevant take into account the preparedness and willingness of candidates to fully cooperate with the Court, and if they had not yet done so, to become a State Party to the Rome Statute.

Recommendation 50

Within regional groupings, States Parties should keep the Court’s needs, mandate and interests in mind and put these on the table when relevant. The regional groupings could equally be used to share information.

Recommendation 51

States Parties that are members of the Security Council should ensure that the Court’s interests, needs for assistance and mandate are taken into account when relevant matters, such as sanctions, peacekeeping mandates, Security Council missions and peace initiatives are being discussed and decided on, while respecting the independence of both.

Recommendation 52

States Parties could in their efforts to assist the Court in fulfilling its mandate, make use of the expertise and knowledge of non-governmental organizations.
Recommendation 53

The Court should strive to share information on concrete needs of the Court with relevant States Parties as early as possible.

Recommendation 54

As much as possible, the organs of the Court should schedule their high-level visits to New York in such a way as to ensure an equal spread throughout the year and coincide with the most significant and relevant United Nations events.

Recommendation 55

High-level Court visitors should continue to be available in the margins of such visits to brief the Group of Friends of the International Criminal Court as well as Court membership of regional groups, including on situations and cases.

Recommendation 56

The practice to schedule the President’s annual address to the General Assembly to coincide with the address by the Presidents of other courts and tribunals, preferably during the International Law Week at the United Nations, should be continued.

Recommendation 57

Incoming members of the Security Council should be briefed on the Court and its relevance to their work in the Security Council well in advance of the beginning of their terms.

Recommendation 58

This briefing should not be limited to legal advisers, but could be extended to permanent representatives, sanctions experts, military advisers, regional experts as well as conflict prevention experts, among others.

Recommendation 59

As a general rule, no proposal shall be discussed or put to the vote at any meeting unless copies of it have been circulated to all delegations in all languages of the Conference not later than the day preceding the meeting. The President may, however, permit the discussion and consideration of amendments, or of motions as to procedure, even though such amendments and motions have not been circulated or have only been circulated the same day.
Rule 46

2. Amendments to the Statute, proposed pursuant to articles 121, paragraph 1 and article 122, paragraph 1, of the Statute on which consensus cannot be reached shall be adopted by the Conference, by a two-thirds majority of States Parties.

XVI. Decision-making

Rule 50
Voting rights

Subject to article 112, paragraph 8, of the Statute, each State Party shall have one vote.

Rule 51

Every effort shall be made to reach decisions in the Conference and in the Bureau by consensus. If consensus cannot be reached, decisions shall be taken by vote.
Rule 52

Rule 53

Subject to rule 51, and except as otherwise provided in the Statute and as reflected in these Rules, decisions on matters of substance must be approved by a two-thirds majority of States Parties present and voting.

Rule 54

1. Subject to rule 51 and except as otherwise provided in the Statute and as reflected in these Rules, decisions on matters of procedure shall be taken by a simple majority of States Parties present and voting.

2. If the question arises whether a matter is one of procedure or of substance, the President shall rule on the question. An appeal against this ruling shall immediately be put to the vote and the President’s ruling shall stand unless the appeal is approved by a simple majority of the States Parties present and voting.

Rule 55
Decisions on amendments to proposals relating to matters of substance

Decisions on amendments to proposals relating to matters of substance, and on parts of such proposals put to the vote separately, shall be made by a two-thirds majority of the States Parties present and voting.

Rule 56
Meaning of the phrase “States Parties present and voting”

For the purposes of these Rules, the phrase “States Parties present and voting” means States Parties present and casting an affirmative or negative vote. States Parties which abstain from the voting shall be considered as not voting.

Rule 57
Method of voting

1. The Conference shall, in the absence of mechanical or electronic means for voting, vote by show of hands or by standing, but a representative of any State Party may request a roll-call. The roll-call shall be taken in the English alphabetical order of the names of the States Parties, beginning with the State Party whose name is drawn by lot by the President. The name of each State Party shall be called in any roll-call, and its representative shall reply “yes”, “no” or “abstention”. The result of the voting shall be inserted in the records in the English alphabetical order of the names of the States Parties.

2. When the Conference votes by mechanical or electronic means, a non-recorded vote shall replace a vote by show of hands or by standing and a recorded vote shall replace a roll-call vote. A representative of a State Party may request a recorded vote. In the case of a recorded vote, the Conference shall, unless a representative of a State Party requests otherwise, dispense with the procedure of calling out the names of the States Parties; nevertheless, the result of the voting shall be inserted in the record in the same manner as that of a roll-call vote.

Rule 58

Conduct during voting

After the President has announced the commencement of voting, no representative of a State Party may interrupt the voting, except that representatives of States Parties may interrupt on a point of order in connection with the actual conduct of the voting.

Rule 59

Explanation of vote

Representatives of States Parties may make brief statements consisting solely of explanations of their votes before the voting has commenced or after the voting has been completed. The representative of a State Party sponsoring a proposal or motion shall not speak in explanation of vote thereon, except if it has been amended. The President may limit the time to be allowed for such explanations.

Rule 60

Division of proposals and amendments

A representative of a State Party may move that parts of a proposal or of an amendment be voted on separately. If objection is made to the request for division, the motion for division shall be voted upon. Permission to speak on the motion for division shall be given only to two speakers in favour and two speakers against. If the motion for division is carried, those parts of the proposal or of an amendment which are approved shall then be put to the vote as a whole. If all operative parts of the proposal or of the amendment have been rejected, the proposal or the amendment shall be considered to have been rejected as a whole.

Rule 61

Order of voting on amendments

When an amendment is moved to a proposal, the amendment shall be voted on first. When two or more amendments are moved to a proposal, the Conference shall first vote on the amendment furthest removed in substance from the original proposal and then on the amendment next furthest removed therefrom, and so on until all the amendments have been put to the vote. Where, however, the adoption of one amendment necessarily implies the rejection of another amendment, the latter amendment shall not be put to the vote. If one or more amendments are adopted, the amended proposal shall then be voted upon. A motion is considered an amendment to a proposal if it merely adds to, deletes from or revises part of the proposal.

Rule 62

Order of voting on proposals

If two or more proposals relate to the same question, the Conference shall, unless it decides otherwise, vote on the proposals in the order in which they have been submitted. The Conference may, after each vote on a proposal, decide whether to vote on the next proposal.
Rule 63
Equally divided votes

If a vote is equally divided on matters other than elections, the proposal or motion shall be regarded as rejected.

Rule 64
Elections of officers of the Conference

All elections of officers of the Conference shall be held by secret ballot unless, in the absence of any objection, the Conference decides to proceed without taking a ballot on an agreed candidate or slate.

Rule 65
Restricted balloting for one elective place

When only one person or State Party is to be elected and no candidate obtains in the first ballot the majority required, a second ballot shall be taken, which shall be restricted to the two candidates obtaining the largest number of votes. If in the second ballot the votes are equally divided, and a majority is required, the President shall decide between the candidates by drawing lots. If a two-thirds majority is required, the balloting shall be continued until one candidate secures two thirds of the votes cast; provided that after the third inconclusive ballot, votes may be cast for any eligible person or State Party. If three such unrestricted ballots are inconclusive, the next three ballots shall be restricted to the two candidates who obtained the greatest number of votes in the third of the unrestricted ballots, and the following three ballots thereafter shall be unrestricted, and so on until a person or State Party is elected.

Rule 66
Restricted balloting for two or more elective places

When two or more elective places are to be filled at one time under the same conditions, those candidates obtaining in the first ballot the majority required shall be elected. If the number of candidates obtaining such majority is less than the number of persons or States Parties to be elected, there shall be additional ballots to fill the remaining places, the voting being restricted to the candidates obtaining the greatest number of votes in the previous ballot to a number not more than twice the places remaining to be filled; provided that after the third inconclusive ballot, votes may be cast for any eligible person or State Party. If three such unrestricted ballots are inconclusive, the next three ballots shall be restricted to the candidates who obtained the greatest number of votes in the third of the unrestricted ballots, to a number not more than twice the places remaining to be filled, and the following three ballots thereafter shall be unrestricted, and so on until all the places have been filled.

XVII. Subsidiary bodies

Rule 67
Establishment of subsidiary bodies

The Conference may establish such subsidiary bodies as may be necessary.
Rule 68

2. Representatives designated by regional intergovernmental organizations or other international bodies invited to the Rome Conference, accredited to the Preparatory Commission for the International Criminal Court or invited by the Assembly may participate as observers, without the right to vote, in the deliberations of the Conference.

Rule 71
States not having observer status

At the beginning of the Conference, the President may, subject to the approval of the Conference, invite a given State which is not a party and does not have observer status to designate a representative to be present during the work of the Conference. A representative who is so designated may be authorized by the Conference to make a statement.

Rule 72
Written statements

Written statements submitted by the designated representatives referred to in rules 69, 70 and 71 shall be made available by the Secretariat to representatives of the States Parties and Observer States in the quantities and in the language or languages in which the statements are made available to it, provided that a statement submitted on behalf of a non-governmental organization is related to the work of the Conference and is on a subject in which the organization has a special competence. Written statements shall not be made at the expense of the Conference and shall not be issued as official documents.

XIX. Amendments

Rule 73
Method of amendment

These Rules may be amended by a decision of the Conference taken by a two-thirds majority of the States Parties present and voting after the Bureau has reported on the proposed amendment.
