

INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL COURT

AT 20

Reflections on the Past,
Present and the Future

Jennifer Naouri

ICCBA President

Jennifer Naouri is a French international lawyer specialized in international criminal law (ICL), international humanitarian law (IHL), human rights and international relations and currently the President of the International Criminal Court Bar Association (ICCBA).

At the ICC, she is Lead Counsel for Mahamat Said and Co-Counsel for President Gbagbo (who was acquitted of all charges by the ICC Appeals Chamber in March 2021). She serves in the same capacity in the Defence team of Félicien Kabuga at the MICT. She is co-founder of SILC, (Strategic International Legal Consulting), a consultancy firm specialised in ICL, human rights, advocacy training and capacity building.

She has a vast of experience working in multinational organisations, in particular before international courts and tribunals (ICTR, ICTY ECCC, ICC, MICT). She is also an experienced investigator in conflict and post-conflict environments namely in Africa and the Middle East.

Jennifer has acted both as Defence Counsel and Legal Representative for the Victims in complex international cases involving genocide, crimes against humanity, war crimes, and sexual violence. For instance, Jennifer was part of the Defence for Hormisdas Nsengimana (acquitted by the ICTR), and represented victims before the ECCC and victims of acts of terrorism. Jennifer further worked for NGOs (e.g. GISTI and the French Red Cross) as well as political institutions (such as the French Assemblée Nationale). She also regularly provides strategic guidance to States, IOs, and affected communities of international crimes in the context of her consulting work within SILC.

She has been teaching international law, human rights and ICL both in an academic and professional context (ICRC, Leiden University, Webster University, Middelburg University, Sciences Po Paris, Paris II Panthéon Assas University, ICC Training for Counsels etc.).
