Reflections on the Past,
Present and the Future

Olympia Bekou

Professor of Law at the University of Nottingham

Olympia Bekou is Professor of Public International Law and Head of the School of Law at the University of Nottingham. She also Heads the International Criminal Justice Unit of the Nottingham Human Rights Law Centre. She read law at Democritus University of Thrace and in 2000 was admitted to the Greek Bar. She completed the LLM in International Law at the University of Cambridge and obtained her PhD in International Criminal Law from the University of Nottingham, for which she had been awarded a NATO Fellowship.

Olympia has undertaken numerous capacity-building missions, including in post-conflict situations (such as Colombia, the DRC, Liberia, Sierra Leone and Uganda), has provided legislation drafting assistance to Samoa and Jamaica, and has trained the Thai judiciary. She is Deputy Director of the Case Matrix Network, a member of the Advisory Board of the Centre for International Law Research and Policy (CILRAP) and Editor of the Torkel Opsahl Academic EPublisher (TOAEP). She is also a member of the Executive Board of Civitas Maxima and Board Member of GJRP and Tallawah Justice for Women.

Olympia is responsible for the National Implementing Legislation Database (NILD) of the ICC Legal Tools Project and the creator of the Cooperation and Judicial Assistance Database (CJAD). She has recognised training, knowledge exchange, capacity building and bilateral assistance expertise and has worked with international institutions, the European Union, States and Civil Society Organisations. Her research focuses on complementarity, cooperation, capacity building and conflict-related sexual and gender-based violence. She has published widely and taught extensively worldwide.
