Judge Geoffrey Henderson, acting as Single Judge on behalf of Trial Chamber I ('Single Judge') of the International Criminal Court, in the case of The Prosecutor v. Laurent Gbagbo, having regard to Regulation 23 bis of the Regulations of the Court, issues this 'Order on the notification of confidential filings to the Legal Representative of victims'.

1. During the status conference held on 4 November 2014, the Chamber provided, inter alia, instructions to the parties and participants on the notification of confidential filings in the current proceedings. In particular, while acknowledging the approach taken during the pre-trial phase by Pre-Trial Chamber I, it directed the Office of the Prosecutor ('Prosecution'), the defence for Mr Gbagbo ('Defence') and the Legal Representative of victims ('LRV') to, from that date, always notify the parties and the participants of their confidential filings. It added that where the party or participant filing the document has a good reason not to do so, it should indicate pursuant to Regulation 23 bis of the Regulations of the Court the status of the filings as 'confidential and ex parte' and the reason for the said classification in the filing itself to enable the Chamber to make its ultimate decision.¹
2. On 5 November 2014, the Registry informed the Chamber that a number of confidential documents filed before the abovementioned instructions were not notified to the LRV.²
3. With regard to two of these documents, Defence submissions ICC-02/11-01/11-707-Conf and ICC-02/11-01/11-709-Conf-Red, the Single Judge recalls that on 28 October 2014, the LRV submitted a request for access to the confidential versions of these documents (or in the alternative, concerning the latter only, to a lesser redacted version).³ On 29 October 2014, the Defence responded, opposing the request and mainly referring to the approach adopted by Pre-Trial Chamber I.⁴ On 30 October 2014, the Chamber instructed the Registry to notify to the LRV filing ICC-02/11-01/11-707-Red-Conf,⁵ and decided 'not to modify the redaction, the classification or the notification of the different versions of filing 709, subject to further indication'.⁶

4. In light of the Chamber's instructions concerning notification of confidential filings in the current proceedings set out during the status conference of 4 November 2014, and considering that they should apply to all documents filed in the record of the case, the Registry is instructed to notify the documents listed below to the LRV, unless the parties provide reasons pursuant to Regulation 23 bis of the Regulations for their respective filing not to be notified to the LRV.

FOR THE FOREGOING REASONS, THE SINGLE JUDGE

DIRECTS the Registry to notify the documents listed below to the LRV, unless the Prosecution and the Defence provide reasons for the chosen classification pursuant to Regulation 23 bis of the Regulations, by Friday 21 November 2014:
