Statement by ICC Prosecutor Luis Moreno-Ocampo on the situation in Kenya

“Before the end of this year, my Office will present two cases against 4 to 6 individuals who according to the evidence, bear the greatest responsibility for the most serious crimes committed during Kenya’s 2007-2008 post election violence. In its 31 March 2010 decision authorizing the opening of an investigation, the ICC Pre-Trial Chamber confirmed that these cases would be admissible. In a public press conference, President Kibaki and Prime Minister Odinga both expressed their support for my investigation. Mr Kilonzo has also recently confirmed to me his personal commitment to do justice for the victims of the post election violence. It is our hope that the Kenyan justice system will ultimately deal with the many perpetrators that the ICC will not prosecute.”
