Subject: [ICC-01/21-01/25 - Confidential ex-parte, only available to the CLRV and the Prosecution] Order regarding the CLRV's observations on ICC-01/21-01/25-479-Conf

Dear Counsel,

With regard to the email from the Common Legal Representatives of the Victims (the 'CLRVS'), providing observations on the filing ICC-01/21-01/25-479-Conf, the Chamber, noting that the Prosecution has already filed a confidential redacted version of the request (ICC-01/21-01/25-479-Conf-Red), hereby orders the CLRVS to send a confidential redacted version of the email.

Thank you and kind regards,
Trial Chamber III

CONFIDENTIAL EX PARTE only available to the CLRV and the OTP

Dear Trial Chamber III,
Upon reviewing the Prosecution's submission ICC-01/21-01/25-479-Conf-Red, the CLRV note that P-1390 [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

To avoid security concerns [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] to intimidation, retaliation, or other adverse consequences should [REDACTED] association with these proceedings become known at this stage in the absence of the possibility of implementing adequate protective measures.

Given the ongoing concerns for [REDACTED] welfare and [REDACTED] security, and that of [REDACTED] family members, temporary anonymity appears a proportionate measure to mitigate foreseeable risks while preserving the integrity of the proceedings.

In light of these circumstances, and considering both P-1390's particular vulnerability and the continuing security concerns [REDACTED] the CLRV support the Prosecution's request.

This email is classified ex parte, CLRV and OTP only, as it contains information not available to the Defence.

Kind regards,
Paolina Massidda
