9 Gough Square

Nov 2016 – Present • 1 yr 4 mos

London, United Kingdom

Thom is a barrister specialising in criminal, human rights and public law. He has extensive experience of drafting pleadings in both civil and criminal cases and is happy to turn around work for clients in cases where time is of the essence.

Thom has considerable experience in the field of public law and human rights, especially in prison law, claims against the police, inquests, and education law. He has experience of running discrimination and human rights claims and has advised in a number of judicial reviews concerning difficult questions of false imprisonment, breaches of Article 5 and Parole Board appeals.

He is regularly instructed to appear in appeals before the Court of Appeal and the High Court and has an excellent success rate. He has a specialism in representing and advising prisoners serving indeterminate sentences of Imprisonment for Public Protection ("IPP").

Having previously worked in civil and commercial law, Thom is particularly interested in civil cases where issues arise of concurrent criminal liability. He has been instructed in a number of cases relating to online privacy and harassment and has been able to bring his civil and criminal experience to bear on advising clients on how to secure the best possible outcome in a fast-changing legal landscape.

Thom is fully qualified to accept instructions from members of the public on a direct access basis. If you wish to instruct Thom, please contact the clerks at 9 Gough Square by email to clerks@9goughsquare.co.uk or telephone on 020 7832 0500
